

GP-304156

OIL PAN WITH VERTICAL BAFFLES
FOR OIL FLOW CONTROL

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An oil pan for an engine includes a body having a floor and side walls. The body has a plurality of baffles extending vertically from the floor and intersecting each other and the side walls in a manner to form four 5 chambers. The baffles have openings to allow oil flow therethrough. One of the chambers acts as an oil pick-up chamber.